

An humble Representation of many Hundreds of Subscribers, belonging to the Alphabetical Sale in Whalebone Court, Loathbury, and to one other in Newgate Street,

To the HONOURABLE

The House of Commons.

RAYING that the Clause for the Suppressing all those Sales upon Numbers, Fans, Gloves, Pictures, &c. may not extend to them, they having paid out many Thousands of Pounds, justly and honestly performed their Contracts, and given entire satisfaction to all concerned in the same;
whereas if this Clause should be received, it will undoubtedly be the Ruin of many, who, expecting their usual Return, will be disappointed thereby.

^{may be}
'TIS ~~most~~ ^{may be} humbly propos'd that a Twenty Shilling Book may be opened upon Seven Weekly Payments, into which Three Hundred Persons may be admitted, which makes the Weekly Receipt into the same, Three Hundred Pounds, out of which Twenty People receive weekly; their several Charge being no more than Seven Pounds each, for which if they receive Fourteen Pounds, the Weekly Money paid out to them will amount to no more than Two Hundred and Eighty Pounds: So that Twenty Pounds may be reserved weekly towards making good any Deficiency, by methodically entring the said Three Hundred, This Undertaking, 'tis humbly proposed, may be continued for Ages, to the great Advantage of every Subscriber, and consequently to the Benefit of Trade.

'TIS therefore most humbly hoped, That this Clause may not be received, or if it be, that it may not effect those of Honest Principles and Good Methods, as the Above Sales are humbly represented to be.

CASE

OF THE

Sale Offices in Whalebone Court and Newgate Street.

An humble Representation of many Hundreds of Subscribers belonging
to the Alphabetical Sale in Whalebone Court, Lambeth, and to one other
in Newgate Street,

TO THE HONOURABLE

The House of Commons.

SAVING that the Clause for the Suppression of all whole Sales upon Numbers, Plans, Ornaments, Pictures, &c. may not extend to them, they
having paid out many Thousands of pounds and given entire satisfaction to all concerned in the whereas if this Clause should be received, it will undoubtedly be the ruin of many, who, expecting their usual Return, will be disappointed thereby.

THE most humble proposal that a Twenty Shilling Book may be opened upon given Weekly payments which three Hundred Pounds may be admitted, and makes the Weekly Receipt of the same, Three Hundred pounds, out of which Twenty Pounds may be weekly; their level is no more than seven pounds each, for which it may receive fourteen pounds the Weekly Money paid of which will amount to no more than Two Hundred and Eighty Pounds; so that Twenty Pounds may be retained weekly towards making good any deficiency, thereby ensuring the said Three Hundred, the said hands proposed may be continued for the great advantage of every Subscriber, and security to the House of Trade.

48

11 10

521

THIS is to certify that the said proposal was presented to the House of Commons, and that the said House has resolved that the said proposal be referred to a Select Committee of the said House to consider of the same.